We have two exciting projects in the works and greatly appreciate your support!

Last year, through your generosity, we met our goal of contributing $25,000 to the student netbook project. We are proud that the classes of 2014 and 2015 will be able to use these tools throughout their four years at Coe-Brown. In order to make these netbooks even more useful and relevant, we hope to purchase classroom management software to be used by CBNA faculty members in conjunction with the netbooks. This software allows teachers to demonstrate directly on student computers with screen-sharing technology, use chat to help any student through a tough problem right from the teacher’s desk, and guide students to appropriate web sites.

The second project consists of engaging a local architect to create some preliminary conceptual drawings for a future arts facility. These drawings will help Coe-Brown as it seeks funding (through a capital campaign and other sources) for this major campus expansion. When the Academy eventually begins construction, it will be in two phases. The first phase will add much-needed classroom space while the second phase will incorporate a state-of-the-art theater and exhibit space for the performing and visual arts programs. Harriman Architects and Engineers of Portland and Manchester has been selected to develop the conceptual drawings. Your gift to this year’s annual campaign will be the first step in realizing our dreams for the future!

Your donation to the Annual Campaign also supports the grant program that is made available to CBNA faculty and staff each year to help expand existing programs. These grants cover the areas of Academics, Administration, Arts, Athletics and Vocational Education. Your gift is tax deductible and supports Coe-Brown Northwood Academy’s ongoing commitment to the education of its students.

In addition to checks, we offer PayPal as an additional payment option. You can find a link to PayPal on the CBNA web site, www.coebrown.org, under the Alumni/Annual Appeal heading, or on our Facebook page, www.facebook.com/coebrown.

The Annual Campaign closes June 30, 2012. Please make checks payable to CBNA Development and send to 907 First New Hampshire Turnpike, Northwood NH 03261. Thank you, alumni and friends of the Academy!

Thank you for your support.

Visions is published twice a year for the alumni, parents and friends of Coe-Brown Northwood Academy.

ON THE COVER: This Coe-Brown winter scene was photographed by CBNA faculty member Sarah Ward ’83.
Dear Friends,

I have a series of warm welcomes to extend in this issue of Visions. First of all, the Academy hosted an orientation day for the Class of 2015 on August 17. Our 176 freshmen attended abbreviated class sessions, participated in a variety of ice-breaking activities led by Adventurelore of Danville, and enjoyed a delicious barbecue. Thank you to everyone who helped make this day successful, particularly our Student Council and student Peer Helpers. Thank you also to alumni and friends of the Academy who donated to the 2010-2011 Annual Campaign. With your help we were able to provide each member of the Class of 2015 with a netbook computer to use throughout their four years at Coe-Brown.

Next, I’d like to introduce our new staff members:

Nate Bassett ’06 joins the CBNA staff as a paraprofessional in the areas of math and reading. In addition he will be working with the cross-country teams. Mr. Bassett is a graduate of UNH.

Toni Canfield joins the CBNA staff as a paraprofessional. Ms. Canfield attended UNH and has four years experience in working with students.

Michael Clauss will be teaching Spanish I and Spanish II in the World Languages Department and will also serve as the Boys Reserve Soccer coach. He attended RPI, la Pontífica Universidad Católica de Valparaíso and UNH.

Amy Deardorff joins the CBNA Staff as a paraprofessional. Ms. Deardorff has attended Keene State, Rutgers, UNH and HB Theatre Studio in New York, and has three years of experience in education.

Sarah Hill joins the Coe-Brown faculty with 10 years of teaching experience. She is a graduate of Loyola University in Maryland and UNH. Ms. Hill will be teaching ninth grade classes in the English Department.

Kolby Hume will be teaching World Cultures classes in the Social Studies Department. She has a degree from Bates College and brings three years of teaching experience to CBNA. She looks forward to assisting with CBNA theatre productions.

Mike Mason ’01 joins the staff with five years of experience in education. A graduate of Plymouth State University, Mr. Mason will be working with CBNA students as a paraprofessional and will be assisting with the cross-country teams.

Finally, we are pleased to announce two new members of the CBNA Board of Trustees. Robert F. Porter of Nottingham is the father of Elinor ’13 and Benjamin ’15. He is a software engineer with Liberty International Underwriters and is active in youth sports. Barbara Marshall Scannell ’79, also of Nottingham, is a graduate of UNH and is employed by Unitil. She is a certified soccer coach and is active in local politics. Her daughter, Katie, is a member of the Class of 2015.

Mr. Porter and Mrs. Scannell replace two retiring members of the Board of Trustees. On behalf of the Academy I extend our deepest gratitude to Sheri Guptill DeTrude ’73 and B. Lee Mason for their many years of service to Coe-Brown.

Thank you for your continued support of Coe-Brown Northwood Academy!

Sincerely,

David S. Smith
CBNA fills new assistant headmaster position

The CBNA Board of Trustees is pleased to announce that Coe-Brown faculty member Caryn Lasky has been named as the Academy’s assistant headmaster of finance and educational administration. For the past 15 years, Ms. Lasky has taught English at Coe-Brown and she has served as curriculum coordinator for the Academy’s English Department since 2006.

This newly created position is part of Coe-Brown’s administrative staff including headmaster David S. Smith, Assistant Headmaster Paul W. Davis, Jr., and Dean of Student Services Sally Aseltine. In her new capacity, Ms. Lasky assists in the planning and execution of programs related to finance, business and educational administration by coordinating the development of the overall operating budget and supervising the operation of the Academy’s finance office.

“I am thrilled that Caryn is our assistant headmaster for finance and educational administration,” says Headmaster Smith. “She has been a valued member of our staff for many years and her classes have always been popular with our students. Caryn will be a tremendous asset as we continue to chart the course for Coe-Brown’s future.

Ms. Lasky completed her undergraduate studies at Wells College in Aurora, New York, and received her master of education in educational administration and supervision from the University of New Hampshire. The subject of her master’s thesis was “Current Practices in Teacher Evaluation.” She is certified by the New Hampshire State Board of Education in English education for grades 5 through 12.

Quinn Palmer named semifinalist in National Merit Scholarship Program

Officials of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation recently announced that Coe-Brown senior Quinn Palmer has been named a semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Quinn is the son of CBNA French teacher Louise Palmer. Quinn joins approximately 16,000 other semifinalists nationwide in this 57th annual program who were the highest scoring students in their states on the 2010 PSAT. Quinn, along with these other academically talented students, has an opportunity to continue in the competition for some 8,300 National Merit scholarships worth more than $34 million that will be offered next spring.

To be considered for a Merit Scholarship award, semifinalists must fulfill several requirements including submitting a detailed application and essay to advance to the finalist level of the competition. About 90% of the semifinalists are expected to attain finalist standing, and more than half of the finalists will win a National Merit Scholarship, earning the Merit Scholar title. Congratulations to Quinn Palmer on this achievement.

Jessica Felber visits China as part of Operation Smile

Jessica Felber of Strafford, a junior at Coe-Brown, is involved in the children’s medical charity Operation Smile as a student volunteer. Operation Smile is a non-profit organization that provides free medical care and reconstructive surgery to children and young adults in developing countries and the United States. Operation Smile focuses on helping patients with facial deformities like cleft lips and cleft palates.

As a high school student involved in the organization, Jessica helps with service projects, educating others, and raising awareness and funds for surgeries, which cost only $240 and take as little as 45 minutes, but transform a child’s life forever. She recently started a Smile Club at Strafford School.

After devoting many hours to volunteering for this medical charity, Jessica made it a goal to increase her involvement in the organization and go on an Operation Smile medical mission as a Student Team member. Jessica attended Operation Smile’s International Student Cultural Exchange (ISCE) in Beijing, China, from August 1 through August 7, 2011.

The ISCE is an annual conference held to help students develop and strengthen their character and leadership skills, increase student volunteerism, learn cultural awareness, and create a life-long commitment to service. By attending keynote and breakout sessions facilitated by world renowned speakers, going on off-site activities to learn about the Asian culture, networking and bonding with over 400 students from more than 15 different countries around the world, participants discover what it truly means to make a difference. For more information about Operation Smile, visit www.operationsmile.org.
Congressional District Art Competition

The following Coe-Brown Northwood Academy students participated in the 30th annual Congressional Art Competition: An Artistic Discovery sponsored by Frank Guinta’s First Congressional District: Kayla Roberts ’13, Taylor Trainor ’11, Kelsey Follansbee ’12, Leanne Baratier ’14 and Jordan McAllister ’13.

Kelsey’s Follansbee’s Self-Portrait Molded by the War took top honors and she will have her work exhibited for a year in the tunnel at the U.S. Capitol in Washington. The portrait is created with correspondence letters and postcards Kelsey had with her dad while he was deployed in Iraq.

This is the fifth Best of Show awarded to a CBNA student over the past seven years. Other Coe-Brown students selected in the past include Heather Baker ’05, Kaitlin Cecchetti ’07, Alyssa Pittera ’09, and Erika Magner ’10. In addition, Leanne Baratier ’14 received fifth place honors in the District for her self-portrait.

Members of the CBNA girls’ soccer, volleyball and cross-country teams took part again this year in the Making Strides Against Breast Cancer Walk in Concord. The athletes and many other supporters walked five miles and raised $9,361, which brings their six-year total to just under $70,000. The Lady Bears also hosted Pink Out events during which they don pink uniforms to show their support for the Breast Cancer Awareness campaign. Anyone interested in making a donation can do so by visiting the American Cancer Society web site at www.cancer.org.
Coe-Brown students assembled in Smith Hall Gymnasium recently to hear a presentation by nationally renowned speaker John Halligan, whose 13-year-old son committed suicide in 2003 after years of ridicule and humiliation by his middle school peers in Vermont.

Halligan has been an outspoken advocate for more education about and prevention of bullying, cyber bullying and teen suicide. In 2004 he helped enact Vermont’s Bullying Prevention Law and was instrumental in the passage of a 2006 Vermont law pertaining to suicide prevention education in public schools.

Coe-Brown’s policy on bullying and intimidation was first enacted in June 2001 but was revisited and strengthened in December 2010 in response to the passage of New Hampshire House Bill 1523, which revised the pupil safety and violence prevention law to include harassment, intimidation, bullying and cyber bullying.

Halligan stresses that today’s bullying looks entirely different than it did when he was in middle school. Physical intimidation has given way to vicious acts of slander perpetrated via cell phones and computers. After Ryan’s death he spent a considerable amount of time reviewing his son’s internet activity to find out what drove his son to take his own life.

“I realized that technology was being utilized as weapons far more effective and reaching than the simple ones we had as kids,” says Halligan. Passing handwritten notes or a “slam” book has since been replaced with on-line tools such as instant messaging, web sites, blogs, cell phones, etc. The list keeps growing with the invention of every new high-tech communication gadget.”

During his presentation at Coe-Brown, Halligan fielded questions from students and was candid about the anger he felt following his son’s death. He shared his encounters with his son’s two main tormenters but stressed that no one person is to blame. “Accountability and responsibility should be shared by all involved: parents, bullies, bystanders, teachers and school administrators, basically the whole system.”

John Halligan visits as many schools as possible to share Ryan’s story and the healing messages of forgiveness and unconditional love. For more information visit www.ryanpatrickhalligan.org.

Adi Rule ’98 performs with Tanglewood Festival Chorus

A group of Coe-Brown students traveled to the Berkshires in western Massachusetts this summer to hear the Tanglewood Festival Chorus perform George Gershwin’s famed opera, Porgy and Bess. CBNA alumnus Adrienne (Adi) Rule ’97 has been a member of the chorus since 2009.

After passing her first audition, Adi was placed on probation with the chorus for six months and, after completing the probationary period, successfully auditioned again to win a permanent spot with the vocal group.

Made up of members who donate their time and talent, the Tanglewood Festival Chorus numbers more than 250 members and performs year-round with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Boston Pops.

Adi earned her undergraduate degree in voice from the University of New Hampshire and a master of fine arts in writing from the Vermont College of Fine Arts.

The Coe-Brown Northwood Academy FFA Chapter took home several prizes at the National FFA Agricultural Communications Career Development Event (CDE) during the 84th National FFA Convention in Indianapolis in October. Members of the team included CBNA alumni Sam Emond, Savannah Reed and Kelsey Brown, all Class of 2011, and seniors Jenna Brown and Katie Soiett. The team as a whole won a bronze emblem, while Sam and Jenna earned silver emblems as individuals and Katie, Kelsey and Savanna earned bronze emblems individually.

CDE education specialist Melissa Dunkel describes this event as supporting “student development of sound communication principles to become strong assets to the agricultural industry in the future.” The five-member team is challenged in all areas of the agricultural communications field. Participants attend a press conference, utilize information gathered in a team activity and complete individual practicums in web design, broadcasting, graphic design, and writing. Students are also tested on their editing and other communications skills. The National FFA Agricultural Communications CDE is sponsored by National FFA Foundation. The event is one of 23 CDEs held annually at the National FFA Convention.

The Coe-Brown team is coached by faculty member Sarah Ward ’83, who received the Honorary American Degree for teachers at the convention. The purpose of the Honorary American Degree Teacher Award is to recognize agricultural education instructors/FFA Advisors who have demonstrated total program quality by using those factors that contribute to successful total programs. Nominees must have taught for a minimum of 10 years and have at least 85% membership in their agricultural education program.

Ms. Ward, certified in all areas of agricultural education, has been a faculty member at Coe-Brown for 21 years and has been involved with FFA since 1979 as a freshman at CBNA. She was also a member of collegiate FFA organizations at UNH and the University of Georgia and served as an FFA advisor and agricultural teacher in Georgia prior to returning to Coe-Brown. Ms. Ward was also honored with the Connor Memorial Award for outstanding agricultural teacher of New Hampshire in 2007.

In addition, Devon Farr ’09 was awarded the American FFA degree during the convention. The degree recognizes demonstrated leadership ability and outstanding achievements in agricultural business, production, processing or service programs. To be eligible, members must have earned and productively invested $7,500 through a supervised agricultural experience program in which they start, own or hold a professional position in an existing agricultural enterprise and serve 50 community service hours. Recipients must also make it their mission to demonstrate outstanding leadership abilities and community involvement. Devon’s area of concentration was specialty animal production. She is currently a junior at the University of Vermont majoring in zoology. While at Coe-Brown Devon served as FFA president during her senior year.

The National FFA Organization, formerly known as Future Farmers of America, is a national youth organization of 523,309 student members—all preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture—as part of 7,487 local FFA chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The National FFA Organization changed to its present name in 1988, in recognition of the growth and diversity of agriculture and agricultural education. The FFA mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

Each year Coe-Brown seniors engage in a rite of passage known as the senior portfolio. Introduced during the 1993-1994 academic year, the senior portfolio and exit interview were established as a replacement for traditional final exams. Central to the process are individually designed projects that provide seniors with real world experience using skills they have developed throughout their four years at Coe-Brown.

Projects run the gamut from organizing fundraisers for worthy causes to rebuilding antique tractors, and everything in between. The projects often result from personal experience or present meaningful challenges in a particular area of interest. This year, one Coe-Brown senior has undertaken a project that not only affects her in a deeply personal way but will also likely help chart the course for her future.

Mia Faucher of Northwood was born in an orphanage in Qingdao, China. It is a small facility, housing 100-150 children with various disabilities. Mia herself was born with a cleft lip that required surgery to repair. When she was eight and a half, Mia was adopted and moved to the United States with her new family. But she never forgot where she came from and traveled with the Fauchers in 2008 to the land of her birth to reconnect with the people who had cared for her as a young child.

In 2010, Mia again visited China, this time with an organized group. When it came time to choose a senior project, Mia knew that she wanted to make a third visit to her homeland and help other young orphans. Mia wrote to the orphanage where she spent her early years and asked if she could come and work there for the summer of 2011. The orphanage administrators replied that they would be happy to have her. Mia convinced a friend from Washington that had been adopted from the same orphanage in China to travel with her. The two girls had kept in touch as they grew up. Mia used airline miles that her parents had accumulated and set out for Qingdao in June.

Mia worked with six young children to teach them English to prepare them for possible adoption. She roomed at the orphanage with girls that she had known as a child. These girls have never been adopted and remain at the orphanage. “They are happy,” Mia reports.

Mia’s visits to China and her experience this summer helped solidify her goals for the future. “I plan to earn a degree in early education and return to live in China for a long time,” she says. “I want to master the language and connect with the culture.”

For the past few years Mia has been studying Chinese at the University of New Hampshire and on line. But she believes the best way to learn the language is to completely immerse herself in it. There is no doubt that this determined and caring young woman will achieve her goals and have a significant impact on those around her. “I want to give back to the people who gave so much to me as a child,” says Mia.

Mia’s proud family includes her parents, Gary and Mary Faucher, and her brothers, CBNA graduates Benjamin ’05, and Kyle ’07.

“I want to give back to the people who gave so much to me as a child,” says Mia.
Forty-seven golfers participated in the CBNA Paul Guptill ‘52 Alumni and Friends Golf Tournament at Nippo Lake Golf Club in Barrington on June 11, 2011. Unfortunately, Mr. Guptill was not able to play in the tournament this year as he was in Florida recovering from surgery, but he promises he’ll be back next year! The tournament brought in $3,750 for Coe-Brown’s endowment fund this year and has raised more than $18,000 in its six-year run. Many thanks to the golfers and sponsors who made this possible!

Congratulations to the winning foursome of Mark Veilleux, Ann Smith, David Powers and Jim Connor. Their score was 54. In second place was the foursome of John Newman, Jr. ’98, Bobby Grant ’00, Josh Knowles ’98 and Joey White ’00 with a score of 59.

Next year, the CBNA Paul Guptill ’52 Alumni and Friends Golf Tournament will be held on Saturday, June 9, 2012 at Nippo Lake Golf Club in Barrington. See you then!
Despite everyone’s best efforts, the hole-in-one prize (thanks, MacCallum’s Boathouse!) went unclaimed.

CBNA Alumni Association Corresponding Secretary

We had another great Alumni Association Banquet on June 11 in the Academy’s Dining Center, catered by Just Us Cardinals. We were joined by fellow alumni as well as their guests. A big thank you goes out to CBNA’s performing arts students for their entertainment during dinner.

The CBNA woodworking program, taught by Mr. Dana Haley, once again graciously donated a handmade wooden chest for the door prize. The lucky winner was Donna Tasker Sewall ’71.

Lisa Allen Kennard ’89 gave us an update on the four-year program of the Doug Jackson ’89 Memorial Food Drive. Last year the donated canned goods went to the Northwood Food Pantry. This year, Nottingham will be receiving the items.

The 50/50 raffle took in $460. The money was divided equally between two winners: Paul Garland ’70 and Heidi Reinhold ’74; each took home $115. The remainder of the raffle benefits the Alumni Association’s operating account. Heidi generously donated all her winnings back to the Alumni Association.

Julie Smith Clarke ’89 spoke at the banquet about the Alumni Association’s current fundraiser, which is two commemorative puzzles of Coe-Brown. One puzzle depicts Pinkham Hall and the other is an aerial view of the campus. The puzzles can be purchased for $20 each or a set (one of each) for $35. The money raised from this fundraiser is divided between the Alumni Associations operating account and the Coe-Brown Annual Campaign.

2011 Scholarships:
Each recipient was awarded a $500 scholarship. The two alumni recipients were Melissa Laurion ’09, St. Anselm College; and Ryan Drown ’10, Colby Sawyer College.

The five seniors from the class of 2011 receiving Alumni Association scholarships were:
Brittany Derocher, St. Joseph’s College of Maine
Margaret Blake, Perdue University
Rebekah Hayden, University of South Carolina-Beaufort
Magen Thibeault, Southern NH University
Catey McCann, University of New Hampshire
Be sure to mark your calendar for next year’s Alumni Banquet, which is scheduled for Saturday, June 9, 2012.

The CBNA Alumni Association extends its heartfelt thanks to the following alumni, associate and honorary members who made contributions ranging from $3 to $500 to our membership, operating and scholarship accounts in 2011. Your support is greatly appreciated!

Freshmen Orientation Day 2011

Students board school buses after a successful opening day.

Welcome Class of 2015!
